Justin Stein concentrates his practice on a range of corporate transactional matters, including mergers and acquisitions, corporate governance, and early stage startup funding. Justin handles all aspects of his transactions from inception to close, including honing deal strategy, conducting due diligence, negotiating the terms of transaction documents, preparing disclosure schedules, and drafting a panoply of agreements.

Justin previously worked as an analyst for a company that distributed more than 100,000 healthcare products to thousands of national emergency care providers, hospitals, advanced patient-care facilities, schools and universities, businesses, and federal government agencies. Justin was also an operations associate for a leading global financial services firm. Prior to passing the bar, he clerked in Hanoi, Vietnam, for a blue-chip law firm with offices worldwide.

Outside The Firm

Justin enjoys traveling, especially to destinations where he can scuba dive. He also enjoys hiking with his dog, skiing, and anything related to sports.
