Lee Begelman concentrates his practice on business litigation.

Lee recently served as a judicial law clerk for Chief Judge John E. Jones III of the United States District Court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania and as an associate at an Am Law 100 firm where he represented clients in complex business litigation and white collar investigations. Lee was also appointed as pro bono special assistant district attorney for Montgomery County, where he conducted preliminary hearings in front of magistrate judges.

During law school, Lee served as a judicial intern for Judge Mitchell S. Goldberg of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, a law clerk for the Department of Justice's Office of Immigration Litigation (Appellate Section) in Washington, D.C., and an intern for a Pennsylvania state representative. He was a staff editor and research editor of the Temple Law Review.

Outside The Firm

Lee enjoys watching movies, listening to music, attending local concerts, and spending quality time with his cat, Mabel.
