Ted Meyer has more than 25 years of experience representing employers in labor and employment matters, with a notable background in the homebuilding, technology, financial, energy, oil and gas, and mortgage and title industries.

He has handled cases from California to Florida, including litigation against the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and defense of large class and collective actions. He also represents large and small employers in litigation and administrative proceedings, and provides pragmatic legal counseling to avoid costly trials.

Additionally, Ted frequently provides representation on disputes with departing executives and managers. He also counsels national employers on reductions in force, compensation plans, leadership training, and overall advice on employee relations strategies.

Prior to joining Blank Rome, Ted was a shareholder at a leading labor and employment law firm in Houston. He has extensive experience serving as a managing partner at firms, including one that he co-founded.
